A PIN PIANO.

It is called a pin piano, is easily made and is very amusing.

Have you a cigar box, a bit of tissue paper, a paper of pins and a tack hammer? Well, that is all you need to make a pin piano, and I am sure the pleasure and amusement it will afford you and your friends will amply repay you for the trouble.

First, you take the box and nail down the lid, then cover the whole box with bright colored paper so that it will look pretty. Then tack the pins along the edges of the bottom of the box. You must be very careful in the pounding of the pins, for this is the difficult part of the work.

Have your sister or somebody sing the soprano part of any song you like, note by note. Perhaps, unless the singer has a perfectly true voice, you had better use some instrument to tune your pin-piano by. Use new, straight pins and needles.

WHICH IS THE BRUTE?

In reviewing the incidents of the past few days one wonders at the peculiar phases of mankind, and is surprised to discover that beings claiming to have intelligence, imbued with sentiment and romance, the taste for music and art and in fact all things that tend to elevate, also surrounded by good influences both at home and in society, could under any circumstances be induced to witness or even feel an interest in what is termed, in order to give it standing, a physical culture contest, but which is in reality and which is so called by its less cultured admirers, a prize fight.

While the notion of brutality may be exaggerated to a great extent, it cannot in anywise be said that the exhibition carries with it anything that advances education, science or the conditions of society in general, but on the other hand the surroundings of such an accomplishment must of necessity be more or less demoralizing.

From a scientific standpoint it is urged that the many art has some principles of science and that it requires bravery or more commonly called "sand" to do battle against an antagonist with perhaps equal knowledge of the various swings, punches and uppercuts. It might be well argued that it takes sciences and sand to walk a tightrope or perform insanely reckless feats on a trapeze suspended from a balcony thousand feet in the air. These exhibitions are happily limited to a few so-called artistes and the performances simply gratify the spectators for the time being without teaching them anything, and none of them would attempt the feats even if given an opportunity. Such so-called scientific exhibitions attract people, not for the entertainment afforded, but more out of a morbid curiosity, many secretly hoping that some fatal termination will result to gratify the desires of a perverted mind.

Men and women that would raise their hands in horror at the recital of the story of some scene of suffering can read the sickening details of some foul crime from beginning to end with a satisfaction that is marvelous. Others that would faint at the sight of blood under certain conditions can sit at the side of a prize ring, applaud and encourage the contestants to beat the life out of each other and not experience a qualm. While the late battle was not an exhibition of brutality it cannot be urged that there was anything connected with it that would suggest an idea for the betterment of any individual or society other than that a few profited by having their money on the winning side and their gain the bitter loss of some fellow man, while their gratification and joy will cost the loser and those dependent upon him hours and days of suffering and perhaps worse. It is useless, however, to moralize, such conditions have existed from the earliest period of mankind and will likely continue to the end. Excitement seems to be far more a necessity to the human family than education or sentiment and if it cannot be obtained in one way it will in some other, no matter at what cost, and when this is considered and the various tastes and dispositions are studied one wonders what advantages man with his higher order of intelligence has over the lower animals, many of which would cringe at scenes the former enjoys and which the large majority of the latter would avoid or if compelled to witness would die from suffering and fright.

If a person considers the subject in the many phases that the above would suggest no doubt the following question would present itself: Which particular order of animal should be termed the brute, man with his superior intelligence or the beast of the field or jungle with its natural instinct and simplicity given it by the Creator?

THE TARIFF BILL.

The Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives has reported the Tariff bill to the House. The debate on the measure will begin next Monday and close on or before the last of the month, when the final vote will take place.

Eight days are to be devoted to the discussion of a measure that affects to a greater or less degree every man, woman and child in the United States. That time, short as it is for the consideration of so important a subject, will practically be wasted as no amendment offered by the minority is expected to be adopted. In the Senate, however, there will be no limit to the debate and the bill may be materially changed before it passes that body. There is, however, a general disposition to allow the Republicans to pass any tariff bill they please and objections will be made only for the purpose of showing the people that the schedules are in many instances framed for the benefit of trusts and monopolies.

MIDWINTER FAIR CLAIMS.

Four bills for relief claims for persons who contributed to the Nevada exhibit at the Midwinter Fair have been passed by the Legislature and approved by the Governor. These claims aggregate $730. They were approved by the State Commissioner to the Midwinter Fair, found to be true and correct by the State Board of Examiners in 1895 and payment of the same recommended. The Legislature (and upon examination that subscriptions to the fund in aid of the Nevada exhibit at the Midwinter Fair made by millionaires had been refunded by act of the Legislature of 1895, and the recent Legislature could find no just cause for refusing to make an appropriation for the payment of smaller amounts.

This, it is believed, will end the Midwinter Fair claims, as the statute of limitations will intervene between the Treasury and Midwinter Fair claimants before another session of the Legislature convenes.

The appropriation bill for the Carson Mint has passed Congress and is as follows: Superintendent, $3,000; Assayer, and Melter and Refiner, $2,500 each; Chief Clerk, $1,800; Bookkeeper, Cashier, Assistant Melter and Refiner, and Weight Clerk, $1,500 each, and $4,000 for incidentals, wastage, sweeps etc., a total of $19,800.

The debate on the tariff bill will begin Monday and close on or before the last day of March. A rule was adopted providing for the sessions to begin at 10 o'clock each day, also for evening sessions.

Congressional.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—The House by a vote of 179 to 122, the latter being Democrats and Populists comprising the minority, to-day adopted the rule providing for sessions beginning at 10 o'clock each day, with sessions at night for debate on the tariff bill, the vote to be taken on the bill and pending amendments at 10 o'clock, March 31st.

After the adoption by the House of a rule for tariff debate, Henderson presented a special rule for the consideration immediately of the four bills which failed at the last Congress, forty minutes debate to be allowed on each bill.

The rule for the introduction of appropriation bills was adopted by 173 to 16.

Senate.

The Senate has confirmed the following nominations: John Hay, Ambassador to Great Britain; Horace Porter, Ambassador to France; Henry White, Secretary of the Embassy at Great Britain.

Senator Davis, Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, spoke at length in executive session of the Senate to-day presenting the views of the majority of the committee favorable to the arbitration treaty and was listened to with the utmost attention.

TELEGRAPHIC NOTES.

A severe windstorm at Jackson, Miss., yesterday unroofed houses, wrecked fences and telegraph wires, but no loss of life was reported.

Revolutionary speeches led to tumult and fighting at the inauguration of a New Republic Club at Madrid, Spain. Several persons were seriously injured.

Secretary Sherman has announced the release of three more American citizens in Cuba, viz.: Chas. Scott, Esteban Venoro, and Theodore Vives.

Vahab Azhdarian, an Armenian refugee, was robbed and almost killed by midnight assailants at San Francisco on Thursday night. He will recover.

Corbett is still explaining how it all happened to his San Francisco friends, and tells that he don't care for the name of champion, but wants another go at Fitz.

The disastrous floods along the Mississippi still continue. The river is rising and people are panic stricken. The loss of life and property is enormous. The rivers in Wisconsin, Iowa, and Dakota are rising rapidly and serious damage is imminent.

A bill has been introduced in the Illinois Legislature to prevent the reproduction of prize fight pictures, and fixes a severe penalty. The author of the bill has received a large number of letters from business men and fathers of families advocating the passage of the bill.

The confessions of Scott Jackson and Alonso M. Walling, charging Dr. Wagner with the murder of Pearl Bryan, is creating great excitement. Dr. Wagner is a prominent physician and a member of a wealthy Kentucky family. Jackson and Walling will both hang at Newport, Ky., to-day. The Governor has ordered out the troops.

Dispatches from Galatz, Roumania announce that a plot is being hatched among the Greeks at Constantinople, where 30,000 well armed Greeks live, to revolt against the government. There are few Turkish troops at Constantinople and it is believed to be an impossibility to hurriedly recall the Sultan's troops from the Greek frontier in the event of revolt.

School Shoes.

Tassell Brothers have a large and fine assortment of shoes for school children which parents are invited to call and inspect as they are being sold at a very low rate.

A man may be a man without his clothes, but he is not a man at all partly by his own doing.

A business may be a business without any advertising to it, but the immortal law of custom, before which men and nations rise or fall, has written in letters of unquenchable fire that men must advertise and that by their advertising so shall they be judged.

Until those words of fire can be quenched no man has a right to practice or to preach an individual doctrine opposed to the rule of custom.

I will admit that the advertisement never brought a reply or never created curiosity, and yet I am willing to stake my reputation upon the assertion that if the value of advertising was limited to the appearance of advertising that advertising would be necessary to proper conduct of successful business.

The man who advertises stands before the public in the full, legitimate and dignified prominence of one who is proud of his business, has a right to be proud of it, is doing a lot of it and wants to do more of it, and he is the kind of man that everybody wants to do business with, for just so long as the moth will be attracted by the candlelight, so long will trade swarm around the advertising light of business.—Hardware.

Spring.

Saved by One Chance In Ten Million.

The accidents that astonish railroad men are those that happen without hurting anybody. Such a mishap occurred to the Lake Shore flier from Cleveland coming into Chicago one Saturday morning. A steel tire slipped from one of the driving wheels of the engine with the train going at full speed. This was extraordinary, but that it should slip off the wheel over the connecting rod and fall clear of the track instead of wrecking the train was simply miraculous.

The driving wheel revolves, say, four times every second, covering that same second 80 feet of the rail. Fracture the tire with its deep inner flange, made to keep it on the rail, and try, with that big connecting rod rising and falling two feet every quarter of a second and the broken tire rolling 80 feet every second, to make the tire fall off the wheel and over the connecting rod so it shall drop clear of the wheel, the rod, the rail and the train.

This could not happen once in 10,000,000 times. Yet on the Lake Shore flier coming into Chicago it did that very thing, and the passengers, instead of being smashed up in a wreck, marveled over the remarkable occurrence.—Chicago Tribune.

"What did you say to her about it?" asked Gladys' papa, yawning.

"Say to her? Why, I told her that she was injuring her constitution, deforming her figure, laying up lifelong misery and probable surgical treatment and everything I could think of."

Gladys' papa laughed. "You went about it the wrong way, my dear," he remarked. "Just leave out all that about deformity and constitution and surgery, etc., and tell her that she is growing a red nose. That will fetch her. See if it doesn't."—Philadelphia Press.

Famous King Oz.

Og, the King of Bashan, mentioned in 1 Kings, had a bedstead 9 cubits long, or about 10½ feet. It is doubtful whether Og himself was of the full length of his bedstead. Many bones of reputed giants have been found in different countries of the world, and uninformed people hastily concluded that the men to whom these bones were supposed to have belonged must have been from 15 to 30 feet in height. All such remains have been proved to be those of the gigantic animals existing in a former era of the world's history.

LEGISLATIVE ENACTMENT.

More Bills Which Have Become Laws of the State.

The following bills passed by the Legislature, in addition to those heretofore mentioned in these columns, have been approved by the Governor and are now laws of the State:

An act for the relief of Douglas county—Appropriates $160,83 for payment of money advanced in aid of Nevada exhibit at Midwinter Fair.

An act concerning the liabilities of proprietors and keepers of saloons and gambling houses—Prohibits the selling or giving of liquors to minors, and prohibits keepers of gambling houses from permitting minors to engage in any game or to remain in the room where a game is conducted under penalty of a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $100, which may be collected by a civil action by the parent or guardian of the minor.

An act to amend section 496 of an act to regulate proceedings in civil cases, approved March 8, 1893—Relates to service of papers in civil cases.

An act to submit the question, "Shall Lincoln county be divided?" to the electors of that county at the general election of 1898.

An act for the relief of Mahoney Brothers—Appropriates $50 for money advanced in aid of Nevada exhibit at Midwinter Fair.

An act for the relief of J. D. Ernst—Appropriates $100 for services at Nevada building at Midwinter Fair.

An act for the relief of R. Fonte—Appropriates $101 for money advanced in aid of Nevada exhibit at Midwinter Fair.

The three relief bills above mentioned were certified to as being correct by J. A. Yerrington, Nevada's Commissioner at Midwinter Fair, payment of the bills was recommended by the late Governor Jones and R. M. Beatty of the State Board of Examiners.

The same is true of the Douglas county relief bill, but as bills for similar purposes, to the amount of about $16,000, have heretofore been paid, the Legislature did not feel justified in refusing the passage of the bills. Appended to each of the four relief bills is the following:

"REINHOLD SADLER,
Lieutenant and Acting Governor."

Conference of Silver Men.

The gentlemen were met at the depot by Hon. O. W. Powers and escorted to the Knutsford Hotel. At 2 o'clock a special train left the capital city for Saltair Beach, carrying the distinguished Democratic leaders, accompanied by a number of other gentlemen.

The Hale Norcross mine owners are having another "Donnybrook Fair" It is election time of course and the question is who shall control. If at any time during this or the coming century a few tons of good rock are discovered the public will understand why the officials and owners abide and fight.

Notwithstanding the large number of tramps in town within the last few days, only three arrests have been made for larceny—two by the Sheriff and one by his deputy. The fact that so few infractions of the laws have occurred is due largely to the efficiency of our peace officers and watchmen.

This writer has met them at all times of the night and knows whereof he speaks. It is also true that a large number of the poor fellows who are tramping are not of the vicious kind, of course the hobo element is among them, but a large majority would work if they could find it to do.

William Bradford Dead.

Wm. Bradford, the man shot at the Magnolia Saloon in Carson, died evenin before last.

The Coroner's Jury received testimony in the case yesterday and found the following to be the facts: The deceased was a resident of Montana and a native of Kentucky. No one knew how the fight started. Bradford was seen to strike Smith several times then Smith shot him and soon after submitted to arrest. His trial will take place as soon as possible.
